

Athletics Officials Courses

& RISK AWARENESS LEVEL 1: ENDURANCE

Who should go on this course?

Anyone aged 18 or over who is willing to work under the guidance of a qualified UKA Endurance Official and wants to follow the Pathway to becoming a qualified endurance official.

How many days will it take?

One day, with no assessment.

What will I learn?

After completing the course candidates will have a knowledge and understanding in the following areas:

- How endurance officials operate at road and cross country races
- The requisite skills to be an endurance official
- Relationships with other officials and athletes
- The responsibilities of key officials at an endurance event
- Knowledge and application of the rules of the sport
- Working knowledge of the start, course and finish of an endurance event
- The tools to do the job
- Risk assessment: reasons why, practical considerations
- Identification of hazards and risks
- The Endurance Officials pathway
- Appropriate attire and equipment

What will I be able to do?

After completing the course candidates will need to

- Gain four recognised experiences at endurance events, operating under the supervision of a qualified UKA Endurance Official.
- Document these experiences in their 'Record of Experiences' to maintain evidence of undertaking a variety of roles, and submit this to England Athletics.
- Undertake a DBS check.

A Level 1 Club Endurance Officials Licence will then be issued.

To progress to become a Level 2 Endurance Official you will need to submit a minimum of an additional six competition experiences and four level modules. For more information please visit:

www.Englandathletics.org/officials

The Next Step to being an Endurance Official

BRITISH ATHLETICS

for more information visit: www.Englandathletics.org/courses